Quiet is the new loud: acoustex trade fair focuses on Silent Living & Working and Silent City

acoustex, the trade fair for acoustic solutions, to be held for the third time, this year on 9 and 10 June. The spotlight in Dortmund will be on a varied line-up of exhibitors and concentrated acoustics expertise. Expert specialist talks are among the highlights of the acoustex supporting programme, which will offer trade visitors in-depth insights into new topics and trends in the industry. Also new this time: The Silent Living & Working and Silent City themed areas will see acoustex picking up on ideas put forward by the industry.

Dortmund (ru) – This summer will see acoustex take on a whole new look when it is held for the third time. Dortmund Exhibition Centre has used the intervening period to evolve acoustex for this year (9 & 10 June), giving it new, modern flair in 2021. The event will feature a wealth of subject-matter dialogue and a focused line-up of exhibitors addressing the topics of acoustic solutions and noise reduction: "With its new two-year cycle, acoustex is following the innovation cycle of the sector and, by so doing, is responding to the wishes of the industry," said Sabine Loos, Managing Director of Westfalenhallen Unternehmensgruppe GmbH.

The focal points of the fair have been realigned to cover the needs and requirements of the industry. This will give exhibitors the opportunity to present their products to even better effect. For trade visitors, becoming familiar with products and trying them out at the fair are becoming even more important. A core element of the fair remains the exclusive supporting programme of accompanying talks and seminars. This will bring together trade visitors from fields such as architecture, technical, urban and traffic route planning, construction physics, product development and indoor furnishing along with experts from business and academia.

Two themed areas – a new framework for acoustex

The Silent Living & Working themed area will highlight building and indoor acoustics applications in the industrial, office and residential segments. The second themed area will be Silent City. Exhibitors and subject-matter experts will offer acoustics specialists and decision-makers solutions and information to help further reduce environmental noise in cities and along traffic routes. "As the only trade fair of its kind in the German-speaking world, acoustex brings together the whole panoply of acoustic solutions as well as highlighting current developments and propositions all in a single location,” added Sabine Loos. As in previous years, acoustex aims to pull together a unique mix of exhibitor offerings, user reports and scientific findings on current acoustic solutions and modern noise reduction in one trade fair.

acoustex will take place on 9 and 10 June 2021. For further information please see the trade fair website (www.acoustex.de). The acoustex channels on Facebook, LinkedIn, Instagram and Xing will offer regular updates.
